Gravenhunger Manor is a grand, atmospheric accommodation, alive with charm and full of character. It's a wonderful opportunity for those seeking to renovate it back to its former grandeur. With its private land, undiscovered secrets, and sense of history, it's the perfect home for curious explorers who thrive in luxury homes.

In the heart of Gravenhunger Village, is this incredible home. The grounds are beautiful and as you venture up towards the gated entrance, they glint with gold and sing you a serene song, like doors to paradise. To park your vehicle, there is an imposing, gravel driveway, alive with greenery to ensure an authentic entrance. Curled in a cosy bed of exotic beauty of nature, the house stands proudly on the edge of its own private, emerald pine forest. You can enjoy the twisting paths, covered in an array of vibrant colours, leading to forgotten memories and a sacred chapel. Visitors can also enjoy the breath-taking acres of land, inviting them to do many fun activities: build cosy dens, swim in the foamy, sapphire river, and read in the dappled light. Seemingly still, next to the river, is a large fishing lake, glowing in the rolling countryside where you could play all day, hypnotised by its grandeur.

Up in the highest part of the house in a convertible, quiet attic, with secret views of the silver ribbon of the ocean and the cosy village. Currently, the attic is used as storage for abandoned furnishing and possible hidden treasures. In here, there is plenty of pace for your imagination to run wild and you can view your property easily, while combing through the jungle of treasures.

When you enter this spectacular property, you will be amazed. It's a true sanctuary: spacious suites, sophisticated space and perfect for renovation, which can be accustomed to your style. There are narrow, triple-glazed windows like glimmering, curious eyes and a wide, dramatic entrance hall with a warm atmosphere. It's a real hidden gem with a stunning, panelled entrance, completed with tall, whitewashed walls and a sweeping, spiralling staircase. Each room is vintage and clutter-free, with its own personality. For hosting, there is a king-sized kitchen-diner with countless cupboards and colourful stone tiles. Underneath the kitchen, is a cellar and a secret lab, laden with forgotten secrets, you can discover. The cellar is also another perfect opportunity to renovate, which I would suggest converting into a cinema or a pool with a sauna. The lab though, is perfect for researching and carrying out science experiments, where you can go wild! Lavish, gleaming, oak floors lie on the house's strong bones, creating an unbreakable foundation. One thing you will never have to worry about maintaining.

With Gravenhunger Village and the seaside on your doorstep, this house feels extra special and an opportunity I can advise you to take. This house is truly spectacular, one you won't want to miss. I cannot wait to show you around.
