Nestled away in the village of Gravenhunger, lies a beautiful and outstanding house. This impressive, detached manor spikes a unique interest for those seeking a project. The manor stands proudly, feeling alive but in an enthusiastic vibe. Each wall contains its own story within the patterns. Perfect for anybody who enjoys using their imagination and outdoor pursuits.

The Outside

As you first look at Gravenhunger manor, you will see two bronze, vintage gates that welcome you with a melodic hum. If you have any visitors, there are definitely enough spaces for all the cars. It can fit about 10. These visitors will surely love to explore the twisting paths to forgotten memories. The mature gardens give a nice pop with greenery to the house, which any child can enjoy for days.

The Attic

Currently, the attic is used for storage and dumping decorations, that are not needed. But it can be used as an extra room for whatever your heart desires, and you can use your imagination. Looking out of the grand, transparent windows, you can see picturesque views of all of Gravenhunger, the sea and many other places. This attic is perched in highest part of the house and is also perfect for curious explorers who use their mind to create lovely pictures in their head. There is plenty of space for your imagination.

Inside of the Manor

Inside the manor, 3 of the many bedrooms come with its own ensuite. If your legs really need a rest, there's space for a lift if you really want to. As you go past the echoing entrance hall, you first see a wood, carved staircase and when you go past this lovely staircase, in the centre of the hallway, you see a large and grand kitchen that can sit 10-15 people. Large windows let in natural light and a calm breeze into the manor.

With Gravenhunger village on your doorstep, you will find many activities that you can do, so you don't get bored. I look forward to showing you around.
